

TIM KEELING – CURRICULUM VITAE

I am a Director at Forths Forensic Accountants, a niche company specialising in the provision of Forensic Accountancy Services to the legal and insurance markets. I joined the Firm in February 2007.

From April 1998 to April 2001, I worked at HLB Kidsons, Chartered Accountants, where I worked in the Forensic Services department, responsible for preparation of reports for the Courts, and the procurement of new business.

I am currently responsible for the business development of the Firm, driving the growth of the fastest growing Forensic Accountancy practice in the UK, and establishing new divisions of the business.

In addition to this role I am involved in the preparation of reports and calculations in a significant number of Personal Injury matters, Commercial Disputes and Criminal Disputes, preparing reports on loss of quantum for the Court and as aid to settlement in matters.

Before working in Forensic Accountancy I worked as an Accountant at Clough & Co, Chartered Accountants in Bradford from 1995 to 1998, preparing accounts, business plans, and management systems for individuals and companies.

As well as my work in Accountancy and Forensic Accountancy I have also owned and run a number of other businesses as diverse as a pub company and a wholesaling operation.
